FINANCE AND TRADE.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS are, just now, mere matters of routine, somnolent under the warm sun of July. The obligation to close on the "glorious Fourth," but to lose that holiday if it come on Sunday, is awakening indignation. That indignation is well founded. The nation's birthday of liberty has a right to recognition; if our recognition of still higher and more sacred duties leads us to waive the celebration when it comes on Sunday, that circumstance does not absolve us so that we need not keep the celebration at all. It is poor patriotism after selling at 117; and 117. Carrying that depends for its display on what day | rates, 1@2 per cent | The assistant treasthe Fourth happens to occur. The St. Louis Republican says upon this subject: "Bankers, a few days ago, were in doubt as to how they would treat Monday, the 1881, 122; 1862, 118; 1864, 118; 1865, 500 of July. THE COTTON MARKET yesterday was quiet, but was under happier ausplees than on last week. New York was firm and higher: New Orleans was firmer, and Liverpool was firmer and higher. All this made cotton holders stronger and firmer in their askings; the inquiry also was more active. The market closed with a more cheerful and buoyant spirit than has been usual of late.
